

What is a Spirit Tasting like at Nancy's?

Here's the straight skinny:

My two friends, Joe Rappa and Scott Lewis, give a little Power Point presentation (basically "The Chosen Spirit 101"). There is a lot of interaction (because the group is small- limited to 24), and Dylan and I really go over the top with the food. This is so much more than a usual "in-store tasting" or a fund raiser where sales reps ply their wares paired with cheese cubes, Ritz crackers and dip BUT, it's not stuffy either.

Café Tastings offer guests a way to learn something about a particular spirit, discover brands for gifting or for their own enjoyment. Choices are not limited to a particular brand, just what we have researched to be of value, interesting, or a good representation of the type. Our house Tasting Panel evaluates several bottles, then chooses which ones meet our standards. (Bottles not selected go to the kitchen for cooking.) Actually, we found a new house vodka for the Café at our last tasting. It was the hands down winner at the end of the evening!

Also, we DO NOT try to sell you anything, but we can direct you to sources at the best prices.

I hope this activity tickles your fancy,

Nancy
